

Stock Market Performance

S&P 500 Index, recent period

Latest data point is Oct 27, 2023

- The stock market has rallied this year but investors are increasingly nervous about rising interest rates.
- Technology-driven sectors have rallied but are sensitive to rates. Energy is benefiting from higher oil prices.
- For long-term investors, it is important to maintain the proper perspective and look past short-term volatility.
